Supervisory board report

Changes in many ways.

Just as the previous years, 2018 has been a year of many changes. Some of them are described in the following chapters.

Regretfully we lost some of the Patient Activates that were so determined to change the effect of Cancer to our society. But others have joined Inspire2Live.

Coen van Veenendaal decided to change his focus and is no longer chairman of the board of Inspire2Live. He is succeeded by Tielo Jongmans at the end of 2018.

Patients first!

In 2018 more influence was achieved on politics both in The Netherlands as on a European level. Influence that in the long term will lower the prices of medicine, increase the availability of specific medicines or treatments and will increase the attention for prevention.

Insights have increased on how profits and costs primarily determine pricing and development of medicine and treatment. The patient belongs at the table, otherwise she ends up on the menu.

Inspire2Live is constantly and increasingly asking and getting attention for the patient. Patients first!

The supervisory board has found no irregularities in the activities of Inspire2Live and subscribes this report.

Amsterdam, March 7th, 2019

R. Stekelenburg, Chairman of the Supervisory Board

Board Report

This board report contains information about our financial year 2018. Inspire2Live has a governing board, which is formed by Tielo Jongmans. A board of directors manages the daily operations. Peter Kapitein, CEO, is responsible for the operational processes.

Changes in board members

Coen van Veenendaal left Inspire2Live in 2018 to focus more on holistic activities in the field of health in general. The focus of Inspire2Live is and remains to find effective, medical scientific, treatments for cancer patients and ensure that these are available for every patient. The importance of focus means that the Supervisory Board of Inspire2Live and Coen jointly decided to separate the activities. The Supervisory Board regrets and accepts his resignation and is grateful for the enormous dedication and contribution of Coen to Inspire2Live. In accordance with the articles of association, the Supervisory Board appointed Tielo Jongmans as the chairman and director of Inspire2Live to replace Coen. Tielo has accepted this appointment with enthusiasm. Tielo (1953) has a history in mathematics, ICT and banking. He recently became one of the patient advocates of Inspire2Live: (<http://inspire2live.org/patient-advocacy-2/patient-advocate-tielo-jongmans/>). For a number of years, he has been indirectly involved in the activities of the Supervisory Board of Inspire2Live. He has worked together with Coen and Peter for years, with Peter even more than thirty years. Based on that past, the Supervisory Board has asked him to succeed Coen, which he enthusiastically is willing to do. The Supervisory Board is confident that Tielo will play a valuable and contributing role in Inspire2Live's activities and will highly support the Patient Advocates.

Our patient advocates

Our organization now consists of 39 active patient advocates of which one in the USA, two in the UK, one in Sweden, one in Switzerland, one in Austria and one in Spain. Our patient advocates are highly educated, well informed and very eloquent. They combine emotion (as a driving force) with their work based on science, knowledge and facts. Our patient advocates are visible in dozens of initiatives, give dozens of talks and write dozens of blogs, articles and books.

initiatives

Inspire2Live is highly recognized in initiatives around personalized medicine, concentration of cancer care in excellent cancer centres, better diagnosis, food and cancer, the prices of drugs, the design of trials, influencing government and industry. These are all topics that are being discussed in parliament and through one of our patient advocates, Herman Otten, we find effective and efficient access to the members of parliament in The Hague and Brussel.

PA-Meetings

We had the following PA-meetings:

- Ronald Brus, ceo of MyTomorrows, about another way of access to drugs.
- Edwin Cuppen, scientific director of Hartwig Medical Foundation, about Whole Genome Sequencing.
- James N'Dow, surgeon from Aberdeen, about guidelines.
- Jan Dekker, ceo of FoodFirstNetwork, about healthy food and prevention.
- Discussion session about drug pricing with Celgene and lead by Inge Diepman.
- An 'internal' PA-meeting about our mission, vision and communication.

Reducing incidence (prevention)

Inspire2Live rewrote the vision document on reducing incidence: <http://inspire2live.org/wp-content/uploads/Reducing-Incidence-vision-document.pdf>. This is for creating/enhancing awareness and focus in Den Haag and Brussel.

We are also involved in two lawsuits concerning the tobacco industry.

Lawsuit Benedict Ficq

One of Benedict Ficq against the Public Prosecution Service (the Article 12 Sv procedure) at High Court in Den Haque. In addition to the question whether the tobacco industry can and must be prosecuted, the question also arises whether Inspire2Live (like many foundations and associations with us), is receptive to this case. On December 6th the High Court decided that the answer to the first question was 'no'. The Public Prosecution Service is not able to and not obliged to prosecute the tobacco industry. And so was the answer to the second question. It was 'no'. Inspire2Live is inadmissible to this case.

Lawsuit about enforcement request at the NVWA

The second is the enforcement request at the NVWA (together with many other interested parties). This request was rejected and it was also stated here that Inspire2Live is inadmissible (with many other parties). This inadmissibility has been disputed by Inspire2Live with a number of arguments. We received a positive response from lawyer Phon van den Biesen. Before we can go to court, we first have to go through the administrative enforcement process, so first a notice of objection against the rejection was prepared by Van den Biesen. The hearing about this in The Haque was November 29th.

Prevention and patient advocates

Prevention is still a topic that needs more of our attention of Inspire2Live. We are not well equipped with patient advocates that want to pick up this important topic. A serious new attempt however will be made in 2019!

Innovation of the Clinical Practice (bringing new knowledge and treatments to the patients)

Quicker ways to introduce treatments into clinical practice

During one of our sessions at the Annual congress we discussed quicker ways than Randomized Controlled Trials for introducing treatments into clinical practice, given the enormous amount of historical patient and treatment data for some types of cancer. One of our patient advocates is preparing a scientific article on this topic together with an epidemiologist.

Together with the 'Vereniging Innovatieve Geneesmiddelen' (the branch organization for pharmaceutical companies in the Netherlands) we are setting up a round table between patient advocates and industry. We drafted an invitation for the first roundtable in November/December. The VIG will look after inviting the proper parties and provide us the contact details.

Surgery without incision

After the death in 2017 of a key-player of 'Surgery without incision', our patient advocate Gerda Schapers, we had never ever quit!

to revitalize this important initiative for patients that need interventional oncology. It appears to be an uphill battle but together with some very active interventional oncologists we will make it a success and probably even expand it with extra functionality for patients. With three case managers we will start in the mid of January 2019, with the website 'surgery without incision' www.opererenzondersnijden.nl The website informs patients about intervention radiology. Case managers connect patients with the intervention radiologists.

Excellent Centers

In April, we presented the petition 'From "We do everything"-hospitals towards 'Excellent Centers' to the Dutch parliament. It was well received and the minister of health had to answer several questions. We were not satisfied with his answer that it was a good petition but that he wants the professionals to look at it and implement it. It is our experience that these professionals are distributed over too many institution, and therefore lack cohesion and urgency, and therefore will not act. In 2019, we will continue with this important topic because it saves lives of many patients when treated in the right cancer center. We see a growing appeal to our organization from patients and relatives, and we advise many via telephone consultation, e-mail and sometimes visits at home or doctor about second opinion and choice of hospital that's best for their specific type of tumor.

Innovation of the Clinical Practice (bringing new knowledge and treatments to the patients)

- Quicker ways to introduce treatments into clinical practice
- Surgery without incision: informing patients
- Excellent Centers: lifesaving for many patients when treated in the right cancer centre.
- I2L partner in EU-subsidized projects
- Glioblastoma and pancreatic cancer: another approach
- Pricing of medicines: motion for magistral preparation and hearing at the EU parliament
- Another CAR-T treatment to patients: improved method for promising treatment.
- Interventional Radiology: Proposal reviewed by Inspire2Live before submitted
- Keeping the discussion alive: MammaPrint test for a category of breast cancer patients

I2L partner in EU-subsidized projects

I2L has become a partner in EU-subsidized projects of specialists' organizations, looking at possibilities in the field of setting up and implementing guidelines for urology and cancer, together with Karin Plass (European Alliance for Urology). Patient advocates within the project will be reimbursed. It is a long shot but it looks promising.

Glioblastoma and pancreatic cancer: another approach

We brought together all the stakeholders involved for another approach of treating patients with glioblastoma and pancreatic cancer. In some cases they can be treated with other drugs, notably Phase2 and all registered drugs (EMA or FDA). The big hurdle to take is reimbursement in this. We asked health insurance companies and industry to join. Together with oncologists and surgeons we can really contribute to enhance the treatments and speed up the process of finding new treatments. This initiative is a direct result from the Discovery Network we organized in Belfast November 30 and December 1, 2017.

Pricing of medicines

Our initiatives and interventions in the national debate on the pricing of medicines was well received and had a good spinoff. Several organizations and media asked for contact and cooperation. We're continuously (re)thinking our strategy for getting the right treatments to all patients. This is our main goal in the discussion on pricing. A great success and for sure partly because of our work the Dutch parliament approved a motion for magistral preparation (preparing the drug by the hospital itself instead of buying it from the pharmaceutical company. This never ever quit!

will put pressure on the industry. For this topic we were invited in a hearing at the EU parliament. This was very successful and warmly welcomed by the MEP Annie Schreier-Pierik. She emphasized that this hearing was set up because of the initiative of the patient advocacy group Inspire2Live. Before this hearing she had never seen one of the other participants.

Another CAR-T treatment to patients

Together with myTomorrows we work on the possibility of getting another CAR-T treatment to the patients via the AMC/VUMC. Milteney, a German Biotec, has an improved method for 1/5 of the Novartis or Gilead price. The AMC/VUMC and Prinses Maxima Center for Child oncology are very interested in doing a trial. If this succeeds many patients will be able to receive this promising treatment.

Proposals reviewed by Inspire2Live before submitted

Also in 2018 there were several proposals that were reviewed by Inspire2Live before they were submitted. One of them was a proposal from the Antoni van Leeuwenhoek Hospital on 'Interventional Radiology'.

Keeping the discussion alive

Inspire2Live contributed in the discussion about the use of the MammaPrint test for a category of breast cancer patients. We sent a letter to the 'Zorg Instituut Nederland' with a copy to the minister of health and the organization of professional oncologists, and we are seeking ways to keep the discussion alive.

Quality of Life

Children need to be children.

One of our (young) patient advocates is highly involved in an initiative with children. They often lose muscle power and mass as a result of long-term treatment. This is the result of lack of moving capability and attitude towards the word 'sick'. Being sick does not mean that the patient has to stay in bed being pampered most of the times, especially not when it comes to children. The right treatment is necessary, so is giving the child the feeling that it still can play and move to his or her own limits improving their own quality of life. So as parents, doctors and caregivers please do also focus on what the child still is capable of and don't let the disease define the child.

Educational tool on taste alteration and nutrition

In June 2018, the NOS (Dutch Broadcast Foundation) published a news article on the ATE (Awareness Through Experience) COOKIES®, developed by the HungerNdThirst Foundation (run by one of our patient advocates) as an educational tool on taste alteration and nutrition. The ATE COOKIES® mimics the metallic taste some patients experience during cancer treatment. This helps friends, relatives and medical staff to understand this issue. In September the foundation started negotiations to bring the cookies to the global oncology market.

'Fit voor Kanker' project

Inspire2Live participated in the proposal for prehabilitation from the Maxima Medical Center in Veldhoven. We contributed to the development of an implementation approach for the 'Fit voor Kanker' project, culminating in a request for funding to ZonMW. The request has not been granted, but together with MMC-Veldhoven we will keep up our efforts to expand this important topic to all patients that need prehabilitation and/or rehabilitation. A wish that we have since the founding of Alpe d'HuZes.

New websites with information about cancer in relation to physical activity

One of our patient advocates is developing the site www.oncoformance.nl with information about physical activity in relation to cancer. Next to this he also develops the site www.sportenkanker.nl which is an inspiration site about how top athletes dealing with cancer.

Quality of Life

- Children need to be children.
- Educational tool on taste alteration and nutrition
- 'Fit voor Kanker' project
- New websites with information about cancer in relation to physical activity
- Reintegrating with / after cancer
- Coordinated care.
- Toon Hermans Huis Tiel

Reintegrating with / after cancer

We are very active to inform employers and employees about reintegrating with / after cancer and inform patients about self-direction before / during / after their treatment. In December of this year we have achieved a cooperation between our Cancer Labour group, the Group Labour and Cancer and the University Medical Center of Amsterdam to organize a `National Cancer and Labour Day` in 2019. We will bring employers and employees together to improve the situation of cancer patients at their workplace and to avoid losing jobs and income.

Coordinated care.

There is always a time pressure for patients when visiting their primary care providers. There are guidelines on survivorship but a lot of primary care providers are not aware of them and there is no coordinated care. Inspire2Live investigates the guidelines that are being developed, because there is a lack of communication between primary care providers and specialists. As patient advocates we would like to draw a cancer survivorship care plan.

Toon Hermans Huis Tiel

One of our patient advocates is director of Toon Hermans Huis Tiel, a place for everyone who has been touched by cancer to meet companions and take part in activities. She started Toons Kids-club for children in the age from 6 till 14. They don't expect the children with cancer but those whose parent or close family member has cancer. Ine van der Laan, child psychologist, will start this group with the children of our existing 'guests' of the Toon Hermans Huis.

Quality of Care (governance of research, industry and healthcare)

Together with the Secretary General one of our patient advocates is looking for boards in care institutes that need a patient advocate in their board. We do believe that health care will improve when patient advocates are not just part of the discussion but also part of the decision. 'When you're not at the table you're on the menu'.

Fundamental and clinical Research (the need to know more than we know)

One of our patient advocates is involved in setting up studies, e.g. immunotherapy for brain tumors (glioblastoma) and colorectal cancer (ASI). This is done at the ErasmusMC in Rotterdam and VUMC in Amsterdam.

We joined the workgroup to set up the 'Therapie op Maat Instituut' and delivered suggestions to redesign the investigation of a biomarker 18Q to test the effectiveness of Avastin.

never ever quit!

Data

- We are addressing patients from Antoni van Leeuwenhoek Hospital to deliver their data for research purpose.
- We organized a hackathon at the ABN/AMRO event 'Beyond Banking' with 2 groups of young people and professor Peter van der Spek from the ErasmusMC in Rotterdam, to analyze data from lung cancer patients to predict the best treatment. We work on an algorithm to make this work in a clinical setting.
- Finally we organize experiments, aiming to learn how data, data scientists and medical researchers together can help patients.

International Cooperation (our patient advocates abroad and connecting with other countries)

Switzerland

Ghada Ibrahim has taken over the role of Karin Holm as the leading patient advocate of Patient Advocates for Cancer Research & Treatment (PACRT), Geneva, Switzerland.

USA

- The work of Seun Adebiji for the bone marrow registry is of great value. It is very important for Afro American people to have more potential donors. 'We have recruited 143 new bone marrow donors through drives in Abuja, Lagos and Zaria. We are planning our biggest drive yet in August, where we hope to recruit over 1,000 donors.'
- Jeffrey Waldron has become 'our man in Boston' and helps us in organizing the discovery Network in Boston, February 2019.

UK

Barbara and Mark Moss are extremely active in EuropaColon the organization for Colon Cancer. Barbara also is taking part in the working group for research on new biomarkers.

connecting with other countries

Spain

Natacha Bolaños is providing a lot of support to Lymphoma Coalition Europe which includes a significant time invested in discovering challenges at European countries level, promoting patient engagement, exploring potential collaborations to make them stronger or more sustainable. In addition she joins two important roles at country level in Spain:

- CAR-T institutional working group - Plan for the approach of Advanced Therapies - Basket of Services SNS and Pharmacy – Ministry of Health Spain
- General Patient Alliance – Secretary

Austria

Natalija Frank plays a great role in the Workshop on Clinical Research in Ghana and PAN's Awareness Project #TheEyeOfGuardian. Visit their website www.pan-austria.org

Sweden

Jolanda van Rooijen is doing a lot of work in complementary treatments for breastcancer patients in Sweden. Among them plastic surgery.

Congresses (for connecting patients, researchers and clinicians)

Annual Congress 2018

Our own Annual congress 2018 was well received. The 'out in the city' and 'combination of experienced hand and the beginners mind' was a big success. Approximately 135 participants visited the congress.

Congress 'BeyondRCT'

We co-organized the congress 'BeyondRCT: towards co-operative citizen science in Food and health'. This was well received and visited by around 100 participants, 25-26 sep 2018.

Annual Congress 2019

The preparation of the Annual January 30, 31 and February 1 is performing good. The program is set and the location also. The program: <http://inspire2live.instantmagazine.com/inspire2live/inspire2live-annual-congress-2018/cover/>

Discovery Network 'Integrated therapies'

A lot of work has been done to prepare for the Discovery Network 'Integrated therapies'. This brings together patient advocates, researchers and clinicians around targeted therapies, immunotherapy and the metabolism. It will be held February 15, 16 and 17 2019 in Boston.

connecting patients, researchers and clinicians

Children and sarcoma

We started working on the Discovery Network 'Children and sarcoma'. This brings together patient advocates, researchers and clinicians around brain tumor and children of sarcomas and children (not yet defined). The organization Kids4Life will probably donate around € 10.000,- to spend on a topic related to children with cancer. It is not yet known when this will be held and where.

HIV and cancer

We started working on the Discovery Network 'HIV and cancer' with Boneventura Clotet, Julian Blanco and Roger Parades from Irsi-CaiXa. They are pioneers in the field of HIV/AIDS and now started to work on using the HIV-virus as a treatment for cancer. We decided to realize a future Discovery Network around this theme.

Visits of patient advocates

There have been dozens probably more than a hundred visits to symposiums, conferences and so on. On most of these visits our patient advocates give talks on all topics related to cancer. We see a growing interest in our patient advocates to give their opinions and contribution. We also see that there is a growing tendency among patients, medical professionals, scientists and institutions and NGO's to seek and to activate the "Voice of the patient" in discussions of policy and implementation.

Memberships.

Inspire2Live is a member of the European Cancer Concord (ECC). Peter Kapitein is member of the executive committee. ECC has merged with the European Cancer Organization (the organization for all stakeholders in the field of cancer research and treatments; ECCO) in 2018. The ECC is the policymaker for ECCO. This makes our influence bigger. The ECC is a group of influential patient advocates, clinicians and researchers from Europe.

never ever quit!

Sustainable finance for Inspire2Live

The financial position of Inspire2Live is stable but restricted. We receive donations that enable us to pay for every activity we do but we see that we have to do more and our environment expects more from us. Also we rely too heavily on people supporting us for free. The support of an office manager, webmaster and also the payment of activities of some patient advocates who work more than 8 hours a week for Inspire2Live is necessary. We feel that we can and may ask for 8 hours a week of unpaid support to invest in our organization. More than that we find not ethical but nevertheless it is, at this moment sometimes a necessity. We also don't pay our PA's and supporters for travel within the Netherlands which we find a very unpleasant necessity (Fortunately we are able to cover international costs for travel). We think that to accomplish fair payment for significant work plus keeping up the present going concern of projects, meetings and congresses, our organization will need around € 350.000,00 a year. Nothing changed in the financial position compared to 2017, however some activities have started. Jeroen van Lierop initiated and wrote down his first thoughts on 'Vrienden van inspire2live' as a possible way to raise funds for Inspire2Live. More activities have to be setup for getting the financial resources that we need.

Finally

It's good to see that the relation with KWF improves now a new director has been appointed. There have been several meetings with employees from KWF with PA's from Inspire2Live in 2018.

We are working on a new team for public relations and a new vision in how to do public relations for Inspire2Live. Marjolein Colenbrander and Getlin Visser joined the team.

We have been in publicity several times.

never ever quit!

In Memoriam

Inspire2Live lost one of her patient advocates

Bart Colenbrander.

Bart was only for a short period a patient advocate from Inspire2Live. However we thought and hoped that he would be the exception and could be cured from pancreatic cancer, the disease did get him. Although he contributed in the preparation of the 'Discovery Network on pancreatic cancer' (which was the start of the 'Wikipanc') in Belfast he was already too sick. Bart died January 8 of 2018 at the age of 50. A beautiful and powerful man. Bart's motto in life for always resonates: 'When the going gets tough, the tough get going'.

Many thanks for being and fighting with us Bart. We will never forget you. You're for always in our hearts and give us the energy we need to never ever quit!

In Memoriam

Chantall Gill'ard

A patient advocate that left Inspire2Live when she fell ill again from breastcancer, Chantall Gill'ard died December 12 last year. In 2014 she joined Inspire2Live as a Patient Advocate. We still remember her lively presence, who wanted more than just talking in patient councils: doing things differently. She was very interested in complementary ways to deal with illness and health. For that reason she was also very fascinated by the role of nutrition. She eagerly accepted the request of Gaston Remmers to be a steering committee member of one of the first projects around personalized nutrition:

"The business potential of Personalized Food". At the closing conference of this project she gave this interview about the vision of patients, as PA from Inspire2Live (link to video <https://youtu.be/He4ptFT-OrU>). We share the beautiful memories of Chantall and never forget her.
